Forgiveness

Our verdict had been given. With a word of commendation the Judge discharged us, the ladies and gentlemen of the jury. The completed duty brought little relief. Instead there was a burden, a spiritual weight. Days of testimony and hours of deliberation had given an oppressive sense of the world's sin and suffering.

The door of my church was open and I slipped inside. I was alone as the rays of the setting sun enhanced the rich colors of the windows. All was quiet. I dropped to my knees.

Gradually in the solemn beauty of that sacred place I found peace. Here was sanctuary for me and for all who would come in faith believing.

Thankfully I arose; my heart and mind felt calm and refreshed. I could go home now, but I would return often. In glad fellowship with God's people I would worship the Christ who died that men might be forgiven.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church: They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Jacoby On Bridge

Set Is High In Tourney

Here is another hand that contributed to Edgar Kaplan's victory in the Life Master's Individual.

Kaplan's opening bid was a minimum and his partner's single raise did not encourage him in the slightest. Hence, he passed South's two-spade call.

When East raised again, Edgar was pleased. He was sure that he could make three diamonds and hoped to be allowed to play that contract. North's belated three-spade bid was passed around to Edgar and he decided to double.

A double of this nature is bad business in rubber bridge. You will probably set the opponents one trick, but it declares success in bringing home his contract. The odds are against you and you merely pass and try to set the undoubted contract.

In match point duplicate, if you set the opponents one trick vulnerable you score 200 points. This result will be close to a top score if you have no game while the 100 point score for an undoubted set will be poor if you could have made your three diamonds.

Edgar opened his ace of clubs. He had control of trumps and wanted to get in a ruff. East signaled with the ten and Edgar led his second club to East's king. A third club was ruffed and Edgar still held his ace of spades and ace of diamonds to set the hand one trick.

East and West could have made four diamonds for a score of 180 but the 200 point penalty turned out to be a top.

Movies Turn Spotlight On "Roaring Twenties"

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD—Modern youth is having a post-war fling to the tune of rock 'n' roll, calypso, the moaning of Elvis and the roar of hot rods with twin pipes. Educational standards are higher than ever and colleges and universities are jam-packed, but adults are viewing with alarm and historians are wondering if 1950-60 will go down in their books as The Roaring Fifties.

But now it's a revoltin' turn off events.

Not for today's "crazy kids" but for yesterday's "crazy kids" and Dad, who have been lifting eyebrows, and voices, about Junior's dirty blue jeans and "awful" flat-top, sister's ballet flats and capri pants, and the entire youthful whirl.

Revoltin' for yesterday's "crazy kids" because Hollywood has rediscovered the jazz age!

A whole cycle of movies headed for the Bijoux and Ritzes are turning the spotlight on the Roaring Twenties.

After all, the roaring age was a time when a young man about to discover that Grandma was a flapper, Dad brewed "bath-lub gin," Cousin Charlie was a flag-pole sifter and Uncle Bert broke his leg in a Charleston contest at Dreamland.

Yes, modern youth will be coming home from the movies in a few months with sly grins and "So what's wrong with me" looks. There will be complete disbelief in Grandpop and Dad's favorite lines—"Now when I was

But if you parents and grand- parents decide, after you and Junior and Sis have seen these films, that it's all a nasty plot

Sports: Jack Dempsey brawling his way to the heavyweight championship of the World in "The Jack Dempsey Story."

Daring: The Lone Eagle—Charles A. Lindbergh—flies the Atlantic alone in a tiny, single engine plane. "The Spirit of St. Louis," with Jimmy Stewart as Lindy.

RUDY VALLEE was the heavy-lidded Elvis of the jazz age that Hollywood's reviving.

your age . . . And there will be strange, wonderment, no doubt, and maybe even guarded questions, about whether Grandma ever got caught in a speak-easy raid or if Mom really looked like the "cat's pajamas" in rolled stockings.

To arms, you oldsters.

Like old movies on TV, your past is being revived.

Before dimming the lights so the blushes won't show, you better forget about your objections (to Elvis and rock 'n' roll, and don't tremble when the kids mention a drag-race. Because if you do, you're in trouble.

You'll find yourself caught between Rudy Vallee's "Hi, Ho, Everybody" and Helen Morgan's smoldering torch songs from atop a piano. Or between a Stutz Bearcat roadster peeling up to go on a dirt road and a Model-T Ford that won't run until somebody hammers at the magneto and spits in the timer.

You may have to explain some other things, too, about that frantic decade you've been hiding in the closet. Such things as Scotch "right off the boat," gang wars on crowded streets, soda jerks who juggled banana splits, flamboyant movie queens with Russian wolfhounds at their sides and skirts two inches above the knee.

Not to mention pork-pie hats, raccoon coats, 60 ukulele choruses of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No More" at 3 a. m., the contortions of "The Black Bottom" and "The Bunny Hug," the "Voo-dee-dee" and "Boop-boop-a-dee" singing, and bell-bottom trousers. It's all coming back on the screen for you—and your children—to see in a variety of categories:

Nightclubs: Ann Blyth as the most glamorous torch singer of the Roaring Twenties in "The Helen Morgan Story." Jimmy Cagney, as horror man Lon Chaney, in "The Man Of A Thousand Faces." The mad before-taxes days of Hollywood in "The Buster Keaton Story," when Gloria Swanson was a bathing beauty, the Keystone Kops chased each other and Buster's frozen face was the funniest thing on the screen.

Politics: Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York lives it up on the Gay White Way and at city hall in "Beau James," with Bob Hope as Walker and Vera Miles as Betty Compton.

The stage: "The Jeanne Eagels Story." Kim Novak as the ill-fated star of "Rain."

Gangsters: Chicago's gangland guns roar and chorus cuties purr as Frank Sinatra plays night club comedian Joe E. Lewis in "The Joker Is Wild."

Ann Blyth Rolls For Torch Roll

HOLLYWOOD—Ann Blyth has spent some time getting the proper hip movement for the hula number she will do in "The Jazz Age," based on the career of Helen Morgan, great torch singer of the 1920s.

Ann, whose early dance training was confined to ballet has been working hard with dance director LeRoy Prinz all week to get what he calls "the message" into the hula number.

The production co-stars Miss Blyth with Paul Newman. Michael Curtis is directing.

Emmy Awards Set Tonight Over NBC-TV

Winners Of 25 National Honors To Be Presented

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—(INS)—Tonight the "Academy of Television Arts and Sciences," a big gaudy con- ception not nearly so significant in the TV field as the "Oscar" Academy is to movies, will stage its annual Oscar-imitation for the benefit mostly of NBC-TV, which has sold the 90 minute presentation for several years frankly and honestly as "a show."

Among the 25 "national" awards, "the best single program of the year" will reveal the choices of the "Academy" among Victor Borg's one-man CBS-TV show; Kraft Theatre's "A Night To Remember," about the sinking of the "Titanic," an important TV drama so good it had to be repeated; "Omnibus" for its Leonard Bernstein treatment of "American Musical Comedy"; Playhouse 90's "Regulum For A Heavyweight" starring Jack Palance; "The Best of Days" on NBC's "The Tonight Show" (9:30 choice would be "A Night To Remember" with "Regulum" a good second choice).

"Best new program series" pits against each other CBS-TV's "Air Power," the Steve Allen Sunday night show, NBC's "Chevy Chase," Ernie Kovacs' show, already off the air; and "Playhouse 90." (We lean toward Playhouse 90).

"Best series—half hour or less," lines up Jack Benny, "Father Knows Best," Alfred Hitchcock, "Person-To-Person," Phil Silvers.

"Best series—one hour or more," will select among Sid Caesar, Climax, Sullivan, Omnibus and Perry Como (Perry's our choice).

"Best public service series": Meet The Press, NBC Opera Theatre, "See It Now," "You Are There," "Wide World."

"Best coverage of a news-worthy event": Both NBC and CBS for their Andrea Doria coverage; ABC and NBC for the political conventions; Murrow's "Years of Crisis." (ABC's convention coverage wins this vote).

"Best continuing performance in a dramatic series" will select among male actors: James Arness of "Gunsmoke," Charles Boyer of "Four Star Playhouse," David Niven of Dito, Hugh O'Brian of "Wyatt Earp" and Robert Young of "Father Knows Best." (Boyer's by far the better actor, Niven next, but keep your eye on Earp).

"Best continuing performance in a dramatic series, actresses": Jan Clayton of "Lassie," Ida Lupino of "Four Star Playhouse," Peggy Wood of "Mama," Jane Wyman and Loretta Young of their own shows. (Peggy Wood is our choice, but because the H'wood elements of the "Academy" dominate this, anything can happen including the non-sensical).

"Best comedienne" in a series: Edith Adams of the Kovacs shows; Gracie Allen, Lucille Ball, Nanette Fabray, Ann Southern. (If they picked Nanette or Lucille, no one, probably neither, would complain).

"Best single performance by an actor": "Lloyd Bridges, Fredric March, Sal Mineo, Jack Palance and Red Skelton (Red Skelton! Our man is Palance).

"Best single performance, actress": Edna Kuvacs, Gracie Fields, Nancy Kelly, Evelyn Rudie, Claire Trevor (Edna Best of "This Happy Breed" and Evelyn Rudie of "Eloise" are our choices).

Linda Darnell Finally Gets Stage Struck

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—Beauty Linda Darnell, a veteran of 17 years in Hollywood with more than 50 movies to her credit, has finally become stage-struck.

The theater bug has bitten the dark-eyed brunette so deeply that she refers to it as "heavenly torture."

"I had no idea the theater could be so exhilarating an experience," enthused Miss Darnell. She explained:

"Why I've been in films since 1939, but it wasn't until last year that I finally performed on the stage. Believe me there's nothing like it."

Her stage debut was in Phoenix, Ariz., in a play called "A Room Full of Roses." This opus ran for only eight performances but it was long enough for her to get a good strong whiff of grease paint that apparently went right to her head.

Not even the abysmal flop of her debut on Broadway in a play called "Harbor Lights" has failed to dampen Miss Darnell's enthusiasm for the stage. The play folded with a resounding bang after a mere four performances.

Recalling the "horrible" experience, Miss Darnell clutched the hand of her new husband, Robert Robertson during a brief New Orleans stopover on their honeymoon. She said:

"The critics murdered it. They literally slaughtered that play. And we worked so hard on it, you'd have thought they might have been a little kinder."

According to the lovely Linda, there's all the difference in the world between film making and stage acting. She describes it simply:

"On the stage, you're 'angling' with a live audience—I mean literally. You get an immediate reaction. If you are doing a good job, you can sense it in the audience. Then you've got them hooked. But the minute you feel your audience is not with you, you know you've flubbed."

In the movies, it's all very different, she says. The only thing you have to worry about is a "mechanical monster" the camera—and "an audience of one"—the director.

"And just because the director thinks a scene is good or bad," she added, "doesn't mean that people who go to see the movie will share his opinion."

"If you flub a line before the camera you just shoot the scene over again. You can't do that on a stage. Once a line is flubbed it stays flubbed."

All this may sound like a good way to go about having a nervous breakdown, but apparently Miss Darnell thrives on it. She said: "I'm dying—literally aching—to do another play."

Belle From Southland Attacks Films

HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—What ever happened to the magnolia-scented, sweet-talking Southern belle?

That's what pretty Mary Costa would like to know.

Mary, a Southern-born beauty from Knoxville, Tenn., thinks the way the movies are depicting Southern girls these days is likely to start another war between the states.

"It's reached the point," she complained, "where you're not supposed to have all your marbles if you're from the South."

"Everywhere I go south of the Mason-Dixon line, people ask me why Hollywood has taken such a cruel attitude towards our girls. I tell them it's all being done by a few Yankees who just don't know the South!"

Main targets of Mary's ladylike wrath are the controversial "Baby Doll" and a new still unreleased film called "The Strange One."

"I approve of Carroll Baker's acting," Mary declared. "But I think the character is completely unbelievable! I defy anyone to find her counterpart in real life outside of an institution for the feeble-minded — and that could be anywhere in the country, not just the South."

"My friends in Knoxville tell me," she added, "that Northern tourists look at them as if they're animals in a zoo ever since the movie came out."

Mary, a fair-haired lass who makes you think of honeysuckle and mint juleps, said she recently attended a sneak preview of "The Strange One" and came out "shocked" at the role played by singer Julie Wilson.

"I'm afraid it's getting to be a bad," she insisted, "to make Southern girls appear thick between the ears, sex-mad or both. In this movie, Julie plays a dumb Southern girl named 'Rosebud.' We don't even call cows 'Rosebud' any more."

"Such unfair, ridiculous, carpet-bagging tactics," she said, angrily, "make me sick at the stomach. Whoever heard of Southern girls being sub-standard in morals or intelligence?"

It's this way: Eugene and Julian are Hungarian refugees, in this country only a few months after scurrying over the Austrian border disguised as potato-pickers, a jump ahead of Russian pursuers. To dramatize the contrast between the West and the Russian-dominated world, the American Hotel Association sponsored a tour to show the country's life and customs. Keyser Underdog In West Virginia 'A' Region Finals

Morgantown Quint Plays Surprising Tornadoes

Beckley, Charleston, Morgantown and Parkersburg are favorites in tonight's windup of regional basketball play to decide the four entries in the West Virginia Class A high school tournament finals at Huntington next week.

Parkersburg (22-3) meets Wheeling (19-5) in Region 1 at Moundsville; Morgantown (23-1) plays Keyser (17-6) in Region 2 at Morgantown; Beckley (22-1) tangles with Gauley Bridge (20-4) in Region 3 at Fayetteville; and Charleston (22-2) meets with Huntington East (19-6) in Region 4 at Charleston.

Beckley, Charleston, Wheeling, Morgantown and Keyser posted victories in yesterday's regional tilt. Beckley ran its current winning streak to 20 straight by bouncing Gary 87-74; Charleston breezed to a 75-54 victory over Williamson.

Keyser Edges Weston
Wheeling skipped past Weirton, 80-72; Morgantown downed Webster Springs, 54-41; and Keyser clipped Weston, 57-55, in a double overtime game.

Keyser's Ron Smith, who finished with 17 points, connected on two foul shots in the second overtime period to give the Eastern Panhandle entry its victory over Weston. The Lewis County quint, which won only three games during regular season play, racked up three straight tourney victories before coming to the end of the line.

Weston, hailed as a "Cinderella" team after winning only three of 20 games during the season as sweeping through its sectional tourney, jumped off to a 14-12 lead in last night's battle, held a 25-22 edge at intermission, and retained that 3-point margin at the third stanza, 39-36.

Cuppitt Ties Score
Three seconds before the regulation game ended Stuart Cuppitt, Keyser center, scored with a hook shot that knotted the count at 50-50. In the final minute of the three-minute overtime period with Weston leading, 55-54, a double foul was committed. The Weston player missed his free throw but Dick Junkins, who came into the game as Kay Hollingsworth fouled out, sank the shot that tied it up at 55-54 and sent the battle into a second overtime heat. As the "sudden death" stanza got underway Smith was fouled on the jump. He stepped to the foul line and sank both shots to give Keyser its eighth consecutive victory and its 17th triumph in 24 starts.

Smith, whose foul shots decided the game, and Junkins, whose free throw resulted in a second overtime period, are both sophomores.

Gillespie with 19 points and Fulk and Louden with 11 each were Weston's leading scorers.

Player	Points	Rebounds	Assists
Keyser	17	10	5
Weston	19	12	8
Stuart Cuppitt	11	5	3
Smith	17	10	5
Junkins	11	5	3
Fulk	11	5	3
Louden	11	5	3
Gillespie	19	12	8

Piersall Explains
uring he'd be shooting for that short rightfield fence.

"Now," continued the Bosox ace, "let's suppose Yogi walks up there a couple of innings later with nobody on. OK, this time the pitcher gets ahead on the count... say it's two strikes and no balls. That's when those good hitters protect the plate. They're up there to get a piece of the ball, trying to hit it where it's pitched.

Changes Play Stance
"In that case, I'd probably play him straightaway. I'm not leaning toward right field the way I was the time before," Piersall explained.

The sure-handed centerfielder claims it takes him "three or four looks" to get the true dope on a hitter.

"Then you can't always be sure," he said. "There are a lot of things you've got to think about. The way the park is built, the pitcher's stuff, how the ball caroms off the fences, the way the wind is blowing, shadows, color of the turf... Anybody figures he can play the outfield right without taking all these things into consideration is wrong."

One of the top fielding outfielders in the history of the game, Piersall also has developed into a solid citizen at the plate. He batted .283 in 1955 and .293 in 1956. For 1957, he'll settle for .300.

Terps Facing Rebuilding On Lacrosse Team

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—It's a rebuilding year for the University of Maryland lacrosse team.

The Terps have won the national collegiate title the past two years while compiling a 23-game winning streak, but coaches Jack Faber and Al Heagy have their work cut out for them this season. Missing from last year's championship squad are three first stringers—All-Americans—Charley Wicker, Jim Keating and John Simmons—and Ben Goertemiller, Frank Tamburello, Jim Strott and Buddy Wacche.

Heading the list of returning lettermen is goalie Jim Kappeler, an honor Terp All America choice last season.

But Faber says he'll be working with "a bunch that's largely untried" and Maryland will likely start with an all-sophomore attack unit of Dick Britz, Larry McLean and Dick Volker.

Heagy, the coach of the defense and goalies, said he's undecided on a starting defensive alignment as yet. Two holdover attackmen, Dick Noller and Leroy Skinner, have been switched to midfield to plug a gap there.

The Terps open an 11-game schedule next Saturday against Mount Washington's perennial powerhouse club team in Baltimore. Maryland won last year's game 12-11 also to become the national open champs.

Ted Tappe And Cubs Face Year Of Decision In 1957

This is another in a series of spring training camp stories by Norm Gerdeeman, former local baseball star and minor league manager, who is covering major league teams working out in the Far West. Gerdeeman now resides in Lake Tahoe, Nev., where he is employed by Wagon Wheel Casino.

By NORM GERDEEMAN
MESA, Ariz.—(Special to The Evening Times)—Ted Tappe and the Chicago Cubs are on the ropes for the moment but both are hopeful this is the year for the big comeback. Tappe, regarded by many as the Cubs' best outfielder two years ago, was one of the early players to report for spring drills at Rendezvous Park here in the Valley Of The Sun.

His story in many ways parallels the story of the Cubs in recent years. He was riding high early in the 1955 season, as were the Cubs. Then, on May 29, he stepped into a hole while trying to stretch a single into a double against Milwaukee at Chicago's Wrigley Field. He pulled loose the Achilles tendon in his left heel, but elected not to have an immediate operation because he wanted to play ball so badly.

It was an unfortunate decision. Before he was through with hospital and surgeons, he had seven operations over an 18-month period, most of them for skin grafts.

The Cubs started having their troubles soon after Tappe was hurt and skidded from second place to sixth by the end of the 1955. Last spring Tappe almost passed out of the picture entirely. In the hospital for one of his operations, he suddenly developed a blood clot in his lungs.

"They said I had one chance in 10 of pulling through," he explained, "but I was lucky." It was a bad year for the Cubs too. They finished dead last, 33 games off the pace.

Now Tappe is here determined to make the big comeback. He doesn't run so well now and it will be rough. "I'm going to make it though," he promised former teammate Hank Sauer here. Tappe, who was a roommate of Milwaukee's Gene Conley at the University of Washington before starting his pro career in 1950, has a new left and plenty of determination.

The Cubs have performed plenty of surgery on their roster and now have a new manager, Bob Scheffing, along with three new coaches and a radically new lineup. They, too, have plenty of determination. This season will be a fateful one for both.

McIntyres Near Cities Dux Lead

Sparked by John Bender's whopping 625 set, McIntyre's Grocers moved to within a game of front-running Sports Shoppe in the Cities Service League by shutting out the pacesetters by the Savoy alleys. Bender hit his high score on games of 183, 235 and 207.

The Grocers were also helped by two other 500 sets. "Bone" King hitting 522 and Tom McGeady 528. Eddie McKay of the leading Sports Shoppe banged out 230, 188 and 235 games for a sizzling 646 but the effort wasn't enough to prevent a sweep.

In other matches, Super Concrete won two from Post Office and C&A Gas Company topped Baltimore Pike twice.

In front at the end of the evening were Glenn Hockman, 176-470, Post Office; Gene Grapes, 195-501, Concrete; Joe Bruner, 221 and Harry Wilson, 506, Baltimore Pike; and Bud Denlinger, 218 and Tom Denlinger, 524, Gas Company. Standings:

LaSalle High Again Takes Rifle Crown

Coach Jim Miller's La Salle High team won its second consecutive crown in the Christian Brothers Rifle League yesterday as they topped a 495-491 postal match decision from Central Catholic of Pittsburgh. The Explorers wound up the season with a 7-1 record, a game ahead of second-place West Catholic (Philadelphia) which hung the only defeat on the locals.

The repeating champs had an 8-1 log this year, the only loss again coming from the West Catholic shooters.

The Explorers registered their highest count of the season yesterday, finding the range for 495 points, each of the first five shooting 99's. They were Billy O'Rourke, Jim Dougherty, Dick Oglebay, John Chaney and George Neely. Giovanni was Pittsburgh's high, also with a 99.

In ranking up their seven wins, La Salle knocked off Central Catholic of Canton, twice, 489-469 and 487-482; Calvert Hall of Baltimore, twice, 489-487 and 489-483; Central Catholic of Pittsburgh, twice, 495-491 and 489-488; and West Catholic of Philadelphia, 491-490.

Yesterday's match was the first over a four-year span for Miller's squad. They have won 29 while dropping 12. Their record for the four years follows: 1953-54 (5-1), 54-55 (7-6), 55-56 (10-1), 56-57 (7-1).

Tighe Having His Troubles As Tigers Lose Fifth In Row

By SHELTON SAKOWITZ
The Associated Press
A contributing factor to the Detroit Tigers' dismal start last season was their lack of hustle in the spring training exhibition games. The Tigers participated in 28 games against major league opposition, winning only eight, losing 19 and tying one.

After the first month of the regular season the Tigers were last in the American League standings and it was a long haul before they started clicking. They finished fifth for the year.

Rookie Manager Cal Tighe was anxious to get his club off to a quick start this exhibition season. "The exhibition games are going to count this year. We're going to play them as hard as mid-season games," he vowed.

Drop Five In Row
It hasn't exactly worked out successfully, however, for Tighe and his Tigers. Detroit routed Boston 10-1 in its opener a week ago, but since then the Tigers have dropped five in a row against five different teams.

Yesterday the batters snapped out of their slump, but the pitcher went sour as the Chicago White Sox prevailed 17-12.

Four Detroit pitchers were touched for 16 hits—including a pair of homers by Minnie Mirosa that knocked in four runs and round-tripper with two on by Walt Dropo, who had five RBIs.

Chicago landed on starting pitcher Paul Foytack for an eight-run uprising in the fourth inning. Jack Crimian, Hal Woodeshick and Mal Simmons were the other Tigers' moundsmen.

Pirates Win Sixth
Bonus outfielder Jim Small drove in six runs with a homer and bases filled triple.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh posted its sixth victory in seven starts by downing Washington 5-1.

Brooks Lawrence pitched five scoreless innings in Cincinnati's 4-3 triumph over Kansas City. Hank Sauer snapped pair of three-run homers and Willie Mays hit one as Giants whipped Cleveland 12-7.

St. Louis erupted for five-run outburst in sixth frame to turn back Yankees 7-4 as Mickey Mantle unfurled his first spring homer for losers.

Milwaukee edged Philadelphia 2-1 spring winning run in ninth off Robin Roberts. Rain washed out a night game at Miami between Brooklyn and Boston.

And the Chicago Cubs beat the Baltimore Orioles 8-2 in the night opener of a three-game series at Los Angeles.

Bragan's Goal For Pirates

FORT MYERS, Fla.—(INS)—Manager Bobby Bragan is a fellow who is always looking up and that probably explains why he's unconcerned about being on the spot.

He has no ultimatum from Pittsburgh Pirates officials to finish higher than seventh "or else." The ultimatum is from Bragan to Bragan and came about last August 22 in Cincinnati.

Bragan, at that time overflowing with despair because of a ball club which eventually finished seventh, said:

"If a lot of faces haven't been changed by Aug. 22, 1957, then there will be one face conspicuously absent. I wouldn't want to be around trying to finish higher with this same bunch."

No Trades Made
The Pirates haven't made a trade since. Some of the new faces from the minors were trotted in merely to provide copy for the readers back home. Home-run clouters like Dick Stuart—66 at Lincoln, Neb.—and R. C. Stevens—27 at Hollywood—probably won't be around for the season opener.

Bragan does say that he intends to keep Johnny Powers, a first baseman-outfielder, who blasted 39 round trippers with New Orleans. But Powers bears the tag of bench material by Bragan's admission.

The youthful manager, beginning his second season, has admitted often that Lee Walls, Bill Virdon, Bob Clemente, Frank Thomas and Bill Mazeroski are the only Pirates he believes could play with a first division team.

Goal 'Fourth Place'
And yet Bragan now says his goal is fourth place. He believes that the team need only win ten more games to make the hop up three notches and believes he can find six pitchers who will do it.

The six are in addition to regular starters Bob Friend, Ron Kline and Vernon Law and reliever Elroy Face. Law started limping the first day of training, a pretty good indication that the leg ailment which severely limited him last year hasn't healed.

Another phase of the game Bragan is giving a big play in camp is base running and pitching techniques.

Stop Too Soon
"Last spring," Bragan explained, "we stopped too soon on fundamentals. Then we found out how badly the knowledge was needed. So now we're working harder on base-stealing. Heck, our three outfielders stole only a total of 15 bases. We'll have to master the art of getting the lead off the bag and turning on the speed."

He said that his pitchers, even Friend who won 18 and lost the same number while pitching more innings than any other league hurler—314—doesn't keep the base runner close enough.

"I've told Clyde King (a former Brooklyn pitcher who managed Hollywood last season) to spend all his time showing them how it's done," Bragan said.

All indications are that Bragan faces the prospect of trying to finish fourth with the "same bunch" he said he "wouldn't want to be around with."

New Business Being Located At Hyndman

Hyndman has secured a new plant to help bolster its sagging industry, with town officials reporting that machinery is being installed and women trained in its operation.

The concern, which manufactures a wide variety of women's apparel, has been named the Londonderry Manufacturing Company and is located in a community-owned building formerly occupied by the Cumberland Undergarment Company.

The women being trained, town officials claim, are the first of what is expected to be a work force numbering 100 employees. The firm has appealed for job applicants, explaining that there is a large backlog of orders to be filled, especially in summer lines.

The 4,000-square foot, quonset-type building has been vacant since the Cumberland concern closed down its Hyndman operation several months ago, after being located there for about a year.

The name of the parent firm, and its officers, have not been made public. Spokesmen said the firm makes women's wear for home, street and sports occasions.

Applicants for work are to report at the Hyndman building for interview and possible training.

Child Killed, Two Injured In Car Crash

A 13-month-old boy was killed and his mother critically injured yesterday when the vehicle in which they were passengers crashed on U.S. Route 40 about eight miles west of Frostburg.

Dead is James Michael Anderson, son of Mrs. Margaret Catherine Anderson, 21 of Washington. She is a patient in Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where attaches today said she was "slightly improved," although still critical.

Driver of the station wagon, which was headed west on Route 40, was Mrs. Anna M. Rotisch, about 22, of Joliet, Ill. Mrs. Rotisch is also a patient in Miners, suffering from shock and severe bruises.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the child died of a fractured skull and neck. Mrs. Anderson sustained a possible fractured skull, shock and hip and shoulder injuries.

Tic. Glen D. Folk of the LaVale State Police barracks, said the cause of the accident has not been established, although it is surmised that Mrs. Rotisch was blinded by the sun, causing her to lose control of her vehicle.

The station wagon veered to the south side of the highway, plunged over a ten-foot embankment and rolled over twice. The occupants were thrown from the vehicle, Tic. Folk said.

Gas Increase Stopped By Federal Unit

WASHINGTON — The Federal Power Commission suspended yesterday proposed wholesale natural gas rate increase by five subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System.

The commission said the proposed boosts would produce $19,936,000 a year in additional revenues for the five concerns.

The suspension runs until July 14. If the commission has not completed a hearing and made a decision by that time, the companies may then put the increases into effect, subject to refund of any amounts that may later be disallowed.

The companies, the proposed increases, and the number of wholesale customers affected include: United Fuel Gas Co., Charleston, W. Va., $10,966,000 or 10 per cent, affecting six customers in West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio.

Atlantic Seaboard Corp., Charleston, $4,148,000 or 8.2 per cent, 13 customers in Virginia, Maryland, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Manufacturers Light and Heat Co., Pittsburgh, Pa., $1,789,000 or 7.3 per cent, 25 customers in Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Police identified the man as Thomas A. Burkinshaw, of 14 Ardmore Road, Hartford, Conn., who has been charged with reckless driving. He had been held in City Jail under $500 bond as the result of the collision at Mechanic and Valley streets, and the questioning was held to determine if the bond should be continued pending the outcome of the injuries to the child.

He succeeds Mrs. Colleen K. Kirk, 209 Fayette Street, who has been granted a leave of absence. A graduate of Beall High School, Frostburg, in 1950, Blair attended Frostburg State Teachers College before entering the armed forces in 1952. Following completion of his service, he returned to the Frostburg college and graduated in 1955. He has since taught school at Northern Garrett County High School and Valley High School.

Decision Next Week

The teacher pay issue has been a strong force running through the Legislature, both openly and behind the scenes, since the session began Jan. 2 and will come to a point of decision next week.

It has been closely tied to discussions of the budget and money problems and both houses considered it important enough to name special subcommittees to study it.

A House subcommittee headed by Del. Blair Lee III (D-Montgomery) has been working on the problem several weeks and is expected to report to the House Ways and Means Committee next week with recommendations for action.

The Senate subcommittee is headed by a fellow Montgomery County Democrat, Sen. Edward S. Northrop. It has been charged with screening all money bills that come into the Senate, but its major concern has been teacher pay.

Seeking $800 Boost

State education officials requested a boost of $800 in minimum salaries, to be spread over a two-year period, but indications are strong that the full amount won't be approved — at least at this session.

Guesses on what will be granted have ranged from $200 to $600, the majority of them on the lower side.

Milton S. Raver, executive secretary of the Maryland Teachers Assn. and their lobbyist at the General Assembly, thinks there is a good chance that at least the $300 requested for next year may be approved, with further action awaiting another session.

Raver has been working for the increase for two years, and has been accused of "pressure tactics" by the governor's office as well as on the floor of the Senate and House chambers.

Money Gap Closes

Except for the teacher increase, finance committees are near the end of their money problems. The gap of $6,800,000 between expected revenues and appropriations has shrunk to less than $3,000,000 since they began screening the budget Jan. 21. And that doesn't include cuts in appropriations which they may have made in executive sessions and not announced.

The latest known shrinkage came yesterday when the Board of Revenue Estimates added a net increase of $1,435,631 to money expected to be available for balancing the governor's $63 million dollar budget.

But even if the budget could be balanced without increasing taxes, legislators seem to favor lifting teacher salaries to make them more competitive with other states and ease the shortage.

School Bond Bill Enacted

A number of Allegany County bills were enacted by the State Senate Thursday in Annapolis.

Enacted were:

House Bill 484, which authorizes the Allegany County Commissioners to finance a $1,200,000 school construction program.

House Bill 313, which allows the county to pay assessors $5,200 a year.

House Bill 315, which allows the county to pay the supervisor of assessments $6,500 a year.

House Bill 314, which authorizes the Upper Potomac River Commission to construct and operate sewage facilities serving the Tri-Towns and the Luke Mill of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company.

Dr. Spitznas Stricken At Librarians' Meeting

Dr. James E. Spitznas, director of instruction for the State Department of Education, was stricken with an apparent heart attack yesterday while attending a meeting of school librarians in Baltimore. He was admitted to Sinai Hospital, where attaches reported him resting comfortably.

A native of Frostburg, he had served as principal of Beall and Allegany high schools, as well as supervisor of Allegany County high schools.

Organ Dedication

An electric organ presented to Grace Methodist Church by Dr. Gillian C. Compton as a memorial to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Compton, will be dedicated at the 11 a. m. service tomorrow.

Held For Authorities

Jesse Swanger, 119 Roberts Street, is being held in City Jail for West Virginia authorities for the alleged theft of batteries from a junk yard in the New Creek District of Mineral County.

Taxes Depend On Increase For Teachers

Operating Budget Balanced Except For Single Item

ANNAPOLIS — The amount of tax bite to be put on Marylanders by their State Legislature this year depends largely on what is done about raising school teacher pay.

It became obvious this week that except for this problem the State's operating budget for next year could be almost, if not entirely, balanced without a tax increase.

But it was equally apparent that the majority of legislators felt teacher salaries should be hiked and that the time to tax for it is now, well in advance of the 1958 elections.
